Willkie Urges Direct And Prompt Aid To Britain

HELP FOR GREECE AND CHINA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.

Britain needed both immediate and long term assistance, and the only way the United States could help Britain quickly was to enact the Aid to Britain bill "with modification", declared Mr. Wendell Willkie, giving evidence before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

As an example of immediate aid, Mr. Willkie said that the United States should provide Britain with from five to ten destroyers monthly.

Mr. Willkie added "We should be able to do this directly and swiftly, rather than through the rigmarole of dubious legalistic interpretations. Incidentally, if we are to make more destroyers available to Britain, we should recondition them in this country in our own yards."

Mr. Willkie advocated that the proposed aid should be limited to the British Commonwealth China and Greece. He gave it as his belief that a policy of isolation would eventually destroy civil liberties in the United States and cause an economic upheaval.

Britain, he added, would require some time, even with American planes to obtain superiority in the air.

"Britain may go down, if the United States aid is ineffective," declared Mr. Willkie who approved of the time limit on the Presidential powers imposed by the House of Representatives amendment.

All modifications, in his opinion, should seek to limit the granting of any unnecessary authority by the Bill.

Mr. Willkie added impressively "I have wanted to see the Americans stand united before all the world as the friend of all who fight for democracy; The deposer of all aggressors and despoilers of the democratic way." For unity's sake, Mr. Willkie urged even the opponents of the Bill to approve of it. This with the approval of the millions of Americans they represented would give the nation "the strength of a united people—strength greater than that of armaments and battleships."—Reuter.

GUNBOAT JACK WINS

CALCUTTA, Feb. 11

The Empire Theatre was packed tonight when a boxing programme of six fights was staged in aid of the Mayor's Fund for the London air raid victims.

The principal fight of the night was between Gunboat Jack and Duncan Chatterton (Bombay) which was won by the former on points.

Gunboat Jack won nine out of the 10 rounds and it was not till the ninth round that Chatterton with a bad cut was sent down. He, however, got up immediatey and continued to fight. In the last round, the doctor examined the cuts and gave his decision that Chatterton could box and he lasted the round out amid a cheering.—A. P.

HITLER'S PLAN TO DIVERT BRITISH FLEET

Will Tokio Play To Berlin Tune In Far East Waters?

CHUNGKING DISCLOSURES OF JAPANESE SOUTHWARD 'PUTSCH'

BRITAIN WATCHES FAR EAST

Japan To Stage Blitz In Sympathy?

Reuter learns that well-informed quarters in London are closely watching the strenuous efforts of Hitler to bring Japan into the war to relieve pressure on himself following Italy's collapse.

Hitler's aim is that simultaneously with a spring blitz against Britain, Japan should attack the Dutch Indies and Malaya, with a view to diverting the British fleet and resources.

While the small extreme Japanese pro-Axis faction would doubtless support Hitler, it is believed here that there is increasing opposition in Japan to further perilous adventures on behalf of the Nazi's.

TOKYO OUT FOR SURPRISE?

LONDON, Feb. 11.

Japan may soon be compelled by the Axis to enter the war against the Allies.

Her action, it is thought, will be probably synchronised with the German offensive in the spring.

Since the Tripartite Pact was signed, the Japanese Government seem to be preparing the nation for some special event. The armistice between French Indo-China and Thailand has been extended for two weeks from this morning. Peace talks between the two countries are still going on in Tokio.

Japanese mediation certainly suggests that she will try to obtain greater control in Indo-China of air and naval bases.

Japan may feel she ought to start an offensive move before the British secure any more victories. On the other hand, she may wait, keeping on good terms with the winning side. Britain is fully prepared to meet any eventuality that may develop in the Far East or the Pacific. Recent events have reminded Japan that she may find herself isolated from any Axis help.

Oil Supply To Japan

Interpellations In House Of Lords

LONDON, Feb. 11.

British concern about possible warlike developments in the Far East was reflected in a series of questions in the House of Lords to-day.

Firstly it was asked whether British and American interests were supplying oil to Japan and whether arrangements had been made to prevent the Dutch Indies exporting oil to Japan.

Secondly, whether the British Dominions were supplying Japan with raw materials.

The Dominions Secretary, Viscount Cranborne replied that Netherlands East Indies companies in which there were British minority interests had recently agreed to supply Japan with a certain quantity of oil, mostly on six months contracts. A limited quantity was also being supplied under contract by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Except for high octane spirit and aviation crudes, there was no legal obstacle in the way of Japan obtaining from the United States those quantities for which she was able to place contracts.

SUPPLIES FROM DOMINIONS.

The question of supplies from the Dutch East Indies was a matter for the Netherlands Government, whose policy was doubtless governed by considerations to which they had given careful thought.

In the matter of supplies of raw materials from the Dominions, Lord Cranborne said that the policy of His Majesty's Governments in the Dominions was in general similar to the British. It was for each Dominion Government to determine the conditions on which it would permit the export of raw materials, and the conditions were naturally more strict in the case of some commodities than others. In certain cases like nickel and copper, the Dominions Governments concerned had instituted total prohibition to destinations outside the British Empire, except possibly the United States. On all these questions, there was close and constant consultation between the United Kingdom and the Dominions Governments.

New Light On Japanese Designs In Far East

CHUNGKING, Feb. 11.

Plans for an imminent Japanese move in her southward expansion programme are now in possession of the Chinese Government, according to a report given prominence in Chinese newspapers. The plans are said to have been revealed as a result of a careful study by the Chinese High Command of the papers and documents recovered from the wreckage of the Japanese aeroplane shot down on February 5, when Admiral Osumi, a member of the Japanese Supreme War Council, was killed in the crash with eight others.

Admiral Osumi at the time was proceeding to Hainan island to assume the post of Commander-in-Chief of the combined Japanese Fleet in the South Seas. Chinese military authorities refuse to divulge details of the documents which have been brought to Chungking for examination by experts.—Reufer.

FRANCO-'DUCE' MEETING

Arrangements To Evacuate Italian Forces From Africa To Spain?

PETAIN NOMINATES HIS SUCCESSOR

BERLIN, Feb. 11.

General Franco crossed the French frontier to-day on his way to Italy to confer with Mussolini, says a report from Vichy quoted by the German News Agency.

According to the Vichy correspondent of the Columbia Broadcasting Corporation, Gen. Franco is going to the Italian Riviera to meet Italian Government leaders apparently to work out an arrangement for the evacuation of Italian troops from North Africa to Spain, says a New York message.

MEDIATION FOR SEPARATE PEACE?

"There is every possibility that General Franco and Mussolini will meet on Italian soil and there is a chance that Hitler will join them," says the "New York Times" Vichy correspondent, quoting well-informed sources in Vichy.

He adds that it is learnt that Marshal Petain is going to his village for a rest.

The newspaper points out that Marshal Petain, who was formerly Ambassador in Spain, is held in high esteem by General Franco and says, "One supposition in Vichy is that General Franco may be serving as an intermediary, and that some sort of negotiations have been opened between Britain and Italy."

FRANCO-PETAIN MEETING

The Spanish Ambassador to Vichy Government, Senor Lequerica, has left Vichy for Port Bou on the Franco-Spanish frontier where he will meet General Franco and Senor Suner, states the Swiss radio to-day.

The announcer added that according to news from Vichy, the Spanish Ambassador will accompany his Chief across France to Italy to visit Signor Mussolini.

There was no confirmation of the news of an impending meeting between General Franco and Marshal Petain.

FRANCE BEHIND THE MARSHAL.

The Toulouse radio which is in the unoccupied territory stated last night that French feeling was behind Marshal Petain in his strict adherence to the Armistice terms.

PETAIN NOMINATES SUCCESSOR

Admiral Darlan was, to-day by a constitutional decree, named Marshal Petain's successor as Chief of State and head of the Government in case Marshal Petain should be prevented by circumstances from carrying out his duties as head of the State says a Vichy message.

Nazis Prepare For Big 'Putsch' In Balkans

BULGARIA'S DEMAND FOR CORRIDOR IN GREECE

Soviet Maintains Enigmatic Attitude: Turkish Reaction

LONDON, February 11.

It seems clear that the Germans are preparing a strong military demonstration in the Balkans and messages from Bucharest describe how military measures throughout Rumania have been tightened up.

Black-out In Rumania

Since the British Minister asked for his passports, black-out has been extended to all important cities, oilfields and ports. Troop movements now occupy all the railways.

German Nurses Arrive

There is confirmation of the British contention that Rumania is now being actively used as a German military base. In fact, it is stated, that even a number of German nurses have arrived in Rumania.

RUMANIAN LEGATION LEAVING LONDON

Reuter's diplomatic correspondent learns that the Rumanian Legation in London has now received instructions to ask for its passports and the Charge d'Affaires this afternoon called at the Foreign Office to make a formal application. Nothing definite has yet been arranged with regard to the date of the Mission's departure.

Minister In Athens Dismissed

The Rumanian Minister in Athens has been relieved of his post, says a Bucharest telegram to the official Italian Agency. The reason for the step is not explained.

Nazi Concentrations

There can be no doubt as to the concentrations of German troops in Rumania, says Reuter's diplomatic correspondent but reports of "train loads of German troops arriving in Sofia from Rumania" must be accepted with reserve.

No direct railway communications between Rumania and Bulgaria exist, nor are there any bridges across that part of the Danube which forms the common frontier. Moreover, the Danube at present is frozen and forms a barrier extremely difficult to negotiate as the rivers surface is a congested mass of blocks and floes of ice, forming an almost insurmountable obstacle to vehicular traffic.

Soviet Attitude

Doubts as to whether Prime Minister Churchill's references in his speech on Sunday to Bulgaria will have much effect in that country are expressed in Turkish circles, according to an Ankara message.

Here the references were received with the greatest interest for a Balkan defensive alliance is Turkey's idea of what would constitute a sensible move.

It is pointed out that Germany could not easily push into the Balkans against 30 Jugoslav divisions, 50 Turkish Divisions and the Bulgarian Army supported by the British Navy and Air Force.

Bulgaria's attitude, however, is believed to be influenced by her revisionist claims, particularly that for a territorial outlet to the Aegean Sea.

Further, Turkish observers suggest that a Balkan alliance backed by Britain would encounter opposition not only from Germany but possibly from Russia as well, though there are no signs that Russia is prepared to help Yugoslavia or Bulgaria in the case of German aggression.

It is not known here whether any German military units have crossed from Rumania into Bulgaria, but reports are circulating to the effect that the number of German "tourists" in Bulgaria is steadily increasing.—Reuter.

NAZI PLANES FOR BALKANS

BUDAPEST, Feb. 11.

More than thirty Junker, 52 troop-carrying planes flew over Budapest at mid-day to-day in the direction of the Rumanian frontier. Telephone communication with Rumania is cut off. —Reuter.

Inside Bulgaria

News received from Bulgaria indicate that German war-like operations continue. The Germans have taken over the supervision of war preparations and one report says that even a few German anti-aircraft guns have arrived in Bulgaria.

The people of Bulgaria are still being kept ignorant of Mr. Churchill's reference to the situation in Bulgaria.

All reference to Bulgaria was cut out from Mr. Churchill's speech before it was published in the Bulgarian press.—Reuter.

CEYLON GOVERNOR HOLDS UP ANTI-INDIAN VENDETTA

COLOMBO, Feb. 11.

Sir Baron Jayatilaka, Home Minister and Leader of the House moved an adjournment motion in the State Council to-day to express disapproval of the message of H. E. the Governor of Ceylon which had been tabled before the House along with other papers relating to the recent Indo-Ceylon exploratory talks.

The Governor's message which was read to the House by the speaker "placed on contemporary record in an easily accessible form a schedule of certain matters in respect of which an undertaking had been given by His Majesty's Government and by the Government of Ceylon to the Government of India" and added: "Having regard to the circumstances in which these undertakings had been given the Government of Ceylon were bound by them to the Government of India and I hold myself bound as the Governor to withhold approval, ratification or assent in respect of any Act, regulation or measure to which the Government of India did not agree and the effect of which would be to deprive Indians of the benefit of any of the undertakings."

Sir Jayatilaka stated that the Board of Ministers considered that the publication of the Governor's message was ill-timed and, whether intended or not, was calculated to render the task of the House in dealing with the Indian question very difficult.—A.P.

LEVY OF AGRICULTURAL INCOME-TAX

Bihar Zamindars Question Validity

PATNA, Feb. 11.

A special bench of the Patna High Court consisting of the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Fazl Ali and Mr. Justice Manoharlal has begun the hearing of a reference from the Board of Agricultural Income-tax, Bihar, asking the court's ruling whether levy of agricultural income-tax is valid on a permanent settled estate.

It was contended yesterday on behalf of the Maharaja of Chota-Nagpur and the Raja of Panchkote—assessees under the Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act—that Regulation 1 of 1793 and the Bihar Agricultural Income-tax Act were repugnant to one another and that the 1793 Regulation contained a legislative declaration that no further demand would be made upon the zamindars in respect of their lands. The Bihar Act did, however, impose a new land tax.

The Board referred the following questions to the High Court; whether a zamindar under the permanent settlement regulations was liable to income-tax under the Act?

Whether the salamis received by him for settlement of bakast land could be taxed? Whether income derived from the sale of forest trees could be taxed, and whether cess realised from tenants could be treated as agricultural income.

Sir Sultan Ahmed and Mr. P. R Das appeared for the assessees and Mr. Baldeva Sahai, Advocate General, appeared for Government.—A. P.

HOAX PLAYED ON BANK AGENT

Bogus Intimation To Offer Satyagraha & Its Sequel

GORAKHPUR, Feb. 11.

A local Bank agent had a shock yesterday when the police authorities visited him, told him he was a Congress "Satyagrahi" and produced a warrant for his arrest.

Much perturbed, he went to the District authorities and disclaimed any connection with the Satyagraha movement. His statement was accepted and the warrant was cancelled.

Enquiries revealed that a notice couched in the usual terms had reached the Magistrate that the Bank manager was to offer Satyagraha at Laldiggi yesterday, but further scrutiny showed that it was a bogus intimation. The police are investigating.—A. P.

Khandray's Candidature For Municipal By-election

Rev. M. J. Rodrigues, Parish-Priest Church St. Ignatius, Mr. K. L. Borker, President, Byculla District Congress Committee and others have issued an appeal to the voters of Byculla (Ward No. 13) in connection with Mr. B. M. Khandray's candidature for the ensuing Municipal By-Election. Mr. Khandray has been nominated as an Official Congress Candidate in the above-mentioned ward. In the course of the appeal it is stated that he should have had a place in the Corporation long ago, but his love for silent public service stood in the way of his making any effort in that direction.

Share Bazar Continues Upward March

ACTIVE BUYING IN STEELS & TEXTILES

Undertone Very Steady

Bombay, Feb 11

The local share bazar opened, after four days, cheerful and was steady at the early part of the session. The market is acting cautiously owing to the forthcoming Central Budget but a section believes that the taxation will not prove burdensome to harm the industrial progress. There is a general desire for active and effective Government cooperation to improve the existing industries and establish new ones whenever possible.

Free Netherlanders To Pay Voluntary Tax

As previously announced, the Royal Netherlands Government in London have instituted a voluntary tax which they expect all Netherlands subjects in Allied and neutral countries to pay. Of the revenue which they will receive in this way, 96 per cent. will be used for strengthening the Netherlands and Netherlands Indies defences; the remaining 4 per cent. for maintaining the administrative apparatus of the Government.

All free Netherlanders will be asked to pay 5 per cent. of their incomes, after deducting the equivalent of £100 from their income, if they already pay taxes in the country in which they now reside, or 10 per cent. if they are not otherwise liable to taxation. Those residing in India, Burma and Ceylon may soon expect to receive a communication from the Netherlands Consulate in the district of which they reside, giving further particulars.

Excuse me— Inner Cleanliness cools and purifies best

THE first thing to do to keep fit and fresh is to clear away the poisons that pollute the bloodstream—follow the health rule of Inner Cleanliness. And that is exactly why you should take a regular glass of sparkling Andrews Liver Salt.

FIRST . . Andrews cleans the mouth and tongue.

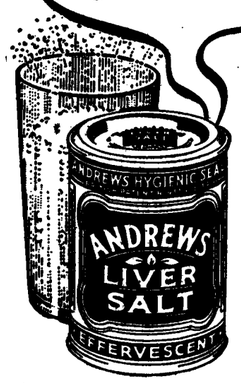
THEN . . Andrews tones up the liver and checks biliousness.

FINALLY To complete your Inner Cleanliness, Andrews gently clears the bowels. It sweeps away trouble-making poisons, corrects Constipation and cools and purifies the blood.

Andrews is more than an excellent laxative. It is a wonderfully good health drink that tones and cleanses your entire system. You should take Andrews regularly, as often as you need it. The same dose is always effective. Andrews is non habit-forming and is suitable for all ages. Economical to use. Buy a tin for yourself to-day.



Bassein.

I have been a sufferer from Indigestion, Giddiness and Flatulence for some time past. I have tried many a medicine but to no avail. At last a friend advised me to use Andrews Liver Salt. I tried it and from that day I have been as strong and healthy a man as ever. J. W. F.

Rs. 30 LAKHS FOR CHARITY

Late Mr. Hirajee Kola's Legacy

Property worth about Rs. 30,00,000 has been bequeathed to charity in trust, it is learnt, by the late Mr. Hirajee K. Kola, seniormost partner in the firm of Messrs Merwanji Kola and Company, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Bombay.

A fairly large portion of this handsome charity has been assigned to the members of his community.

One of the oldest solicitors in the city with a practice of nearly 50 years the late Mr. Kola was noted for his benevolence and philanthropy. Inquiries show that in his lifetime he had made four different trusts, the approximate value of which is Rs 15,00,000. Quite a large sum seems to have been earmarked for such charitable purposes as relief for the blind and the lepers and for hospital work.

Lighting Regulations For Motor Owners

Many Bombay motor owners are now infringing the lighting regulations.

One common practice is to screen headlights with a cloth covering, which fits over the lamp like a bag. Some shops, it is understood, are selling these contrivances with an assurance that they comply with the regulations. That is not so.

The regulations lay down that all lamps capable of throwing a beam, carried in front of a motor vehicle, shall have a single sheet of thin brown paper covering the whole of the glass and a second sheets of thin brown paper super-imposed on the top half of the glasses. Stamped samples of the brown paper approved may be seen in the Traffic Department Office, at the Head Police Office, in any police station and in the W. I. A. A. Office.

Another breach of the regulation is the fitting of bulbs of more than 36 watts. The rules provide that 36-watt bulbs are the most that may be used

BOMBAY: WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1941.

A FRESH ATTEMPT

A number of circumstances have given rise to reports of a fresh attempt at a political settlement. The steady unending stream of Satyagrahis, the growing discontent in the country, the difficulties of budget-making, the prospect of a heated debate in the Central Assembly on Sardar Sant Singh's resolution on the present deadlock and, above all, the most critical stage the war is expected to enter during the spring are all circumstances that demand for a settlement. And even the most moderate friends of Government have urged on them the need for a more liberal offer. Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Sirdar Jogendra Singh being only a few of them. The Liberal Federation has made some urgent demands which are a fair approximation to those of the Congress. Its President, Mr. V. N. Chandavarkar is apparently so disgusted with Mr. Amery's attitude that he has openly declared that he could not criticise those who said that Mr. Amery was not honest. The Hindu Mahasabha has gone many steps further and has given an ultimatum that, if Government do not make, before the end of March, a definite and otherwise satisfactory statement conferring Dominion Status on India, it will start some form of direct action. In these circumstances it is not surprising if there should be signs of a fresh move for a settlement.

Govt. Must Take Initiative

On the surface, the initiative is, of course, taken by the people. Our Delhi Correspondent understands that a memorandum is being prepared for submission to the Viceroy suggesting the appointment of a Committee, with the authority of the Government, to draft a Dominion Constitution for India within one year after the war. As regards immediate changes it is suggested that there should be coalition ministries at the centre and provinces on all-party basis as emergency arrangement without prejudice to any party and that at the centre all subjects are to be transferred to the ministry with the exception of such subjects as foreign relations, certain parts of defence etc. Our correspondent even believes that these proposals are already in the hands of the Secretary of State. The Hindu, whose Editor had an interview with the Viceroy a few days ago, also makes some detailed proposals to end the deadlock. It is unnecessary at this stage to consider these proposals, which deal mainly with the machinery both for determining the immediate necessary constitutional changes and to suggest the machinery for formulating the future constitution for the country. What is essential in the first instance is the readiness of Government to make a fresh offer substantially on the lines suggested by the Congress. If this is possible, there will be no difficulty in devising suitable machinery to formulate constitutional proposals.

Release The Leaders

Apart from the question of machinery, we may as well indicate here the essential conditions of any proposals, formulated through any machinery, being generally accepted. On the one hand, it should be obvious that if Government do not make, as a basis for negotiations, an offer substantially on the lines of the Congress demands, no negotiations can possibly succeed. On the other hand, it should be equally obvious that there can be no settlement immediately if the Congress takes up the position of "all or nothing". The world situation is such as demands an immediate honourable compromise, without prejudice to the ultimate aims of the Congress or any other party sharing power and responsibility. Indeed, if the compromise is of the right type, it is most likely to facilitate a final lasting settlement. It can be of the right type only if the people get a substantial measure of real power and responsibility. What precisely should be the measure of the responsibility and what temporary safeguards it should be subjected to can be best settled by a thoroughly representative committee, assuming, of course, that Government's general offer is a suitable basis for negotiations. If Government are ready to make such an offer it will be an essential as well splendid gesture, and one calculated to help all concerned, to release all the members of the Congress Working Committee, all the ex-Premiers who are now in jail and all those who are likely to be helpful in the expected negotiations. It is certain that if negotiations of any kind follow, Gandhiji and the released leaders will not mar them by renewing the Satyagraha. They may even suspend the movement as a whole. If no negotiations follow or if they break down, even then we think it most expedient to leave the Working Committee members free. For a situation may arise at any time when fresh negotiations with them will be found feasible. Finally, if there is to be very soon a fresh interview between Gandhiji and the Viceroy we feel that its usefulness will be considerably enhanced if it is proceded by an interview between Gandhiji and Mr. Jinnah.

A Sordid Drama

The Vichy drama was generally expected to reach its denouement during the middle of this week. But even the climax is not yet reached and, according to the latest messages from New York, the principal "dramatis personae" are now bound for, or have already reached, that famous health resort. That by itself is an astounding piece of news but the inclusion of Senor Suner in the cast is really mysterious. It is inconceivable that all those eminent personages have been simultaneously attracted by the famous waters of Vichy. Rather their aim must be to give a "cure" to Marshal Petain himself, whose octogenarian obstinacy has baffled Hitler as much as Mussolini, though both of them are polished bullies. Senor Suner is probably brought on the scene to play the part of an honest broker. He, with his brother-in-law, General Franco, already acted in that role last June when Marshal Petain was cajoled into asking for "a soldier's armistice." The latter seems, however, to have become twice shy after being bitten once and his obduracy has so far proved unbreakable. How it will stand to this latest concentrated pressure remains to be seen. But from the dispositions he is reported to have already made, the aged Marshal seems to be preparing for the worst. He may yet refuse to let them pass!

Invasion Of Bulgaria?

One of the most interesting passages in Premier Churchill's broadcast was about the presence of German troops in Bulgaria. Mr. Churchill asserted that forward tentacles of the Nazi army had already penetrated Bulgaria, that air fields were being occupied by German ground personnel and that many preparations had been made for a movement of German troops into or through Bulgaria. Those statements must have been based on unimpeachable grounds and it is significant that while "competent quarters" in Berlin have denied these reports, there is no categorical denial of them from Sofia. However, even if the facts are not as stated by the Premier, it has been long since evident that Hitler had marked Bulgaria as his next victim. As to how the Bulgarians and especially the Soviet react to the proposed move remains to be seen. Meanwhile, it is significant that, according to an Ankara message, doubts as to whether Mr. Churchill's references to Bulgaria will have much effect in that country, whose Press was not permitted to publish those references, are expressed in Turkish circles where Bulgaria's attitude is believed to be influenced by revisionist claims particularly that for a territorial outlet to the Aegean Sea.

The New Phrase-A New World Order

(By BHAGVANDAS)

V

The best and most comprehensive western definition of Swaraj or self-government is President Abraham Lincoln's: "Government of the people, for the people, by the people." The serious deficiency in it is connected with the word "by". Obviously, it cannot possibly mean "by the whole of the people." In democratic practice, it has come to mean, "by the elected representatives of the people." Here again, it is obvious, and, I believe undisputed, that these elected representatives ought to be 'good and wise'; for such law-makers alone can make 'good and wise' laws; which alone can secure and spread general welfare and 'organise for peace.' Bryce, in his large and authoritative two-volume book, 'Modern Democracies,' repeatedly describes the great desideratum, by such pairs as 'character and talent,' 'genius and virtue,' 'uprightness and public spirit as well as intellect'; and laments that philosophers from Plato downwards, in the west, while pointing this ideal, have "never succeeded in showing how the possessors of these qualities are to be found and chosen." I understand that, some months ago, Mahatma Gandhi, criticising a suggestion to this same effect by Dr. G. S. Arundale, queried: "But who will certify the goodness and wisdom"? The answer to this is plain and simple: "A duly educated electorate." "But what are the marks of goodness and wisdom"?—may be rightly asked further. The reply to this question is to be found, in a very few verses, in 'Manusmrti'; as also are to be found all the vitally important matters which form the solid 'basis of true Swaraj', viz., the psychological principles of a World-Order, a social structure such as western idealist—socialist—communist thinkers have been seeking for, in vain, because of their neglect of just those psychological facts and laws.

★

What these principles, (as indicated in the ancient books), are which answer all such queries,—this I have, to the best of my feeble powers, been endeavouring to place before the public and the Congress leaders for the last twenty years and more. Briefly, they may be found in a small pamphlet, "The Ethico-Psychological Crux in Political Science and Art" (Published by the T. P. H., Adyar, Madras, in 1931). Very much more briefly, they may be found outlined in a few paragraphs (and explained in the Appendix thereto) of "The Outline Scheme of Swaraj," published by Deshbandhu C. R. Das and myself in 1923.

★

Mahatma Gandhi may appoint a small Committee to sketch out a Scheme of Swaraj, which will make adequate provision for "social welfare, including everything, spiritual, cultural, political, economic and social". Is it impossible that such a Scheme, by its own inherent merits, its self-evident fairness and equitability, its provision for the welfare of all, without difference of creed, colour, caste, race, or sex, may appeal to and be accepted by all sections of the people, Hindu, Muslim, Christian, etc., and by all such leaders, whether Hindu or Muslim or Christian, as may be free from megalomaniacal ambition and inordinate greed for power and insatiable craving to be 'first' and 'leader' and 'dominator' everywhere? Because Swaraj has been interpreted, so far, by every one in terms of mere 'Power', without specification of how that power will be used to ensure general social welfare, it has inevitably created mutual distrust, mutual fear, mutual hate, between the several communities, sects, castes, professions, nations, races. Interpret it in terms of an honest, just, equitable, specified, use of power, and all the mischief, all the mutual suspicion, will vanish from the hearts and heads of all alike, and a 'better world' will begin now.

The papers report that the President of the Muslim League, in the course of a speech at Delhi on 1-12-1940, asked what were the war-aims of the Congress against the British Government? Was civil disobedience launched really for the freedom and independence of India? And he said he was unable to accept this". If the Congress had placed before the public a rational Scheme of Swaraj, which would have patently shown the specific sort of 'ordered freedom' and 'qualified independence' i.e equal "interdependence, reciprocal freedom, which the Congress wanted, it would have been impossible for any one to say things like this. The misfortune is that the Muslim League and its President and leaders have done no better, in this respect, than the Congress and its leaders; nor have the Hindu Sabha and its leaders. They have all been saying they want Independence and Freedom; but none has made any attempt to specify the main uses to which it or he or she would put it, if and when achieved. If they had had the wisdom to state, more specifically and publicly, what they wanted, they would, for very same, if for no better reason, have been compelled to frame their schemes so as not to outrage the clear rights of any section of the people, and would all have been able to come to terms easily. In challenge and counter-challenge, leaders of the Muslim League and Hindu Maha Sabha have gone to the length of saying that they want Muslim Raj and Hindu Raj respectively—which makes rational reconciliation impossible. Such reconciliation of all is possible only in "Human Raj"; not in Hindu or Muslim or Christian Raj, not in British or German or Japanese or Russian Raj All these moonstruck political and communal leaders of India, like the rulers of Europe, can talk only in terms of the artificial 'labels', Indian, Hindu Muslim, Shia, Sunni, Touchable, Untouchable, British, French, German, Italian Greek, Aryan, Jew and of the senseless catch-words Freedom, Independence; they cannot talk in terms of 'human being' and the common needs of all, food, clothes, shelter, family-life, refined recreation, health education, protection, rights-and-duties, communion, with nature and nature's governing mystery.

If these leaders and rulers would only seek honestly, sincerely, without personal or national greeds and ambitions, or blind obstinacies, for the straight path which can lead all to happiness, they would surely find it. The sun is flaming on it and lighting it up, all the time; but they are shutting their eyes and turning their faces away from it.

Mahatma Gandhi, Pt. Jawaharlal, Maulan Azd, Shri Rajagopalachari and the other eminent and prominent Congress leaders are, all of them, believers (at least so they say) in Swadeshi. Unless they know or can discover something better, let them carefully study the principles of the very Swadeshi, very ancient, and psychologically very scientific, Individuo-Socialist Scheme of Organisation of Society. They will find that it is wholly independent of any and every particular race or religion; deals with human beings as such, in terms of their natural needs, faculties, temperaments; ensures a due balance of power, between all the natural sections or vocational classes of Society; brings suitable work and appropriate worker together; (with necessary adjustments, in details, suited to modern changed conditions), is as perfectly valid and applicable today as five thousand years ago, in respect of principles, (because

Adjournment On Bengal Clash Ruled Out

Huq Refuses To Make Any Statement: Says He 'Neither Knew The Origin Nor The End Of The Incidents'

CALCUTTA, Feb. 11.

Yesterday's disturbances at Rajabazar and at some other places in the city were again referred to in the Bengal Legislative Council (Upper House) during question hour to-day.

In reply to a question by Mr. Humayun Kabir (Krishak Proja) the Chief Minister, Mr. A. K. Fazlul Huq, said that he was not prepared to make any statement on the matter, as he was not in possession of all facts. He knew neither the origin, nor the end of the incidents.

Earlier, Mr. Kabir wanted a statement from the Government regarding the disturbances, which had given occasion for the use of gas cartridges in certain areas.

The Revenue Minister, Sir Bijoy Prosad said that in the absence of the Home Minister, nobody else could make any authoritative statement in regard to the matter.

Mr. Kabir said that if it was found that there was unnecessary use of police force, he wanted to draw the attention of the Government to the matter by an adjournment motion. He added that the general presumption from non-official enquiries was that there was excessive use of police force in certain areas. If the Government deferred making a statement, he wanted to know from the Hon'ble President whether he would have the right to move an adjournment motion later.

ADJOURNMENT RULED OUT

CALCUTTA, Feb. 11.

An adjournment motion, seeking to discuss the situation that has arisen as a result of the disturbance yesterday in Rajabazar area, was ruled out of order by the Speaker, Sir M. Azizul Haque, in the Bengal Legislative Assembly this evening.

In announcing his decision, the Speaker remarked that the language in which the motion was couched, made it wholly out of order.

The motion was tabled by Mr. Jalaluddin Hashemy, member of the Krishak Proja Party in Opposition.

After the prayer interval, Mr. Shamsuddin Ahmad, Leader of the Krishak Proja Party, wanted to know from the Speaker, if another adjournment motion on the subject of yesterdays disturbances would be allowed, in view of the fact that the motion tabled by Mr. Jalaluddin Hashemy was ruled out of order on technical grounds.

The Speaker said that Mr. Shamsuddin should put a short-notice question and try to get an answer. Even if no answer to a short notice question on the subject be forthcoming, he would be prepared to consider a fresh adjournment motion.

The consideration of the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Bill clause by clause was taken up by the Bengal Legislative Assembly.

RAILWAY CLOSURE SUSPENDED

The Bengal Government have drawn the attention of the Government of India to the fact that owing to the silting up of two rivers in the Faridpur District the retention and extension of the Kalukhali-Bhatipara branch of the Eastern Bengal Railway has become an urgent necessity in public interest. This information was supplied by the Maharaja of Cossimbazar, Minister for Works and Communications, replying to a question in the Assembly today.

The Government of India had issued orders for closing this branch railway to meetwar needs and subsequently suspended the said orders. The Bengal Government, the Hon'ble Minister added, had urged upon the Government

Frankly Speaking

Clearing The Decks

The withdrawal of the British Minister from Bucharest has been anticipated for some weeks now. Rumania has become for all practical purposes a province of the Reich and the German army officers who went there as military instructors a year ago have virtually become its masters. General Antonescu is merely a puppet in their hands, whatever may be the feelings of the Rumanian people at large. It is reported that more than a quarter million German troops have been sent to the country and it is obvious that the Nazis are turning it into a base for their spring campaign, whether they march South or East. In the circumstances the position of the British Legation had naturally become impossible and its recall in a way clears the decks for action. It is significant in this connection that the Germans are strictly enforcing air raid precautions in Bucharest while the oil fields are heavily guarded. Both are within the range of British bombers from their new bases in Greece.

Unfair

Those members of the Bombay Municipal Corporation who were responsible for throwing out the resolution about the V. J. T. Institute strike cannot be congratulated on their uncompromising attitude in this matter. The resolution was not unreasonable. It only requested the Corporation's representatives on the Board of the Institute "to go through the grievances of the students of that institute who find themselves compelled to go on strike against the infliction of a new medical relief fee" and "to see that the injustice of an extra burden of fees being thrown on them is removed." If necessary, the resolution could have been so amended as to convey a request either to reduce or suspend for some time the fee in question.

Special Pleading

Mr. Gordhandas G. Morarji, one of the representatives on the Board, argued that a fee of Rs. 7 per annum was no burden on the students. In talking in this vein he has only shown himself incapable of appreciating the students' difficulties. This is not the only fee they have to pay. Other fees are already extremely high. To have to pay Rs. 7 in addition cannot but be a hardship to many. As regards his contention that without the fee the hostel would be put to a loss, we can only say that students' hostels like schools, colleges, hospitals etc. are not run purely on business lines and that a fee which could be dispensed with in the past could well be dispensed with now or be appreciably reduced.

"The Penal Reformer"

The annual number of the "Penal Reformer", just published, deserves to be carefully read by all interested in penal reform. In its hundred folio size pages are packed 25 instructive articles dealing with various aspects of this subject, like the prevention of delinquency, juvenile offenders, the system of probation, the so-called criminal tribes, the psychology of crime, and even the serology of crime. Among the contributors are well-known publicists like Mr. Sri Prakash, Dr. Clifford Manshardt, Dr. K. N. H. Rizvi and last but not least, Mr. Gopinath Srivastva, the founder of this monthly. During the last two years of its existence the magazine has become so popular that in addition to the twenty-five articles included in the annual number twenty more were received for it but could not be published for want of space. But these, we are told, will be published in the subsequent issues. We wish space could have been found for Mr. K. G. Mashruwala's article on "Moral Basis of Penal Law" in the annual number. However, even without it this number is worth study and is worth a great deal more than its price of one rupee.

ROYAL NAVY BOMBARDS OSTEND: NAZI STORY OF ATTACK ON FLANDERS

LONDON, Feb. 11.

Fires too numerous to count were left raging throughout the bombed area last night when the R.A.F. rounded off a concentrated six-hour attack on north Germany's vital railway and industrial centre, Hanover.

BERLIN BOMBED

An R. A. F. raid on Berlin last night is mentioned in a Stefani telegram from Berlin, says a Rome message.

The message says that a number of bombs were dropped "everywhere."

ATTACK ON OSTEND

The German-occupied port of Ostend was bombarded by units of the Royal Navy during the early hours of this morning. An Admiralty 'communique' giving this news adds: "Our salvoes fell on harbour works and many fires were observed. No casualties or damage was sustained by our forces."

A NAZI STORY

A German High Command 'communique' says that last night British warships shelled the Flanders coast. According to the 'communique' they were driven off by coastal batteries.

No confirmation of this attack is available in London.

R.A.F. OVER GERMANY

From the communications point of view Hanover is particularly vulnerable and it is the Nodal Point linking all the principal lines in north, north-east and west Germany. Poor weather during early night did not prevent the bombers from finding the target area and distributing incendiaries in the north, south and west sections. Aided by the fires thus created and the steadily improving weather, the later waves of raiders were able to shower heavy calibre high explosives with good effect.

An official 'communique' describes the operations as "a very heavy attack" and states that over ninety per cent of the force employed reached their objectives.

At the same time a smaller force attacked oil installations in docks at Rotterdam and caused large fires and explosions.

Several other targets in north-west Germany and two aerodromes in Holland were also visited.

Aircraft in the same command also successfully attacked Boulogne harbour which had been previously bombed in daylight yesterday.

It is officially stated that from all the above operations four British aircraft are missing.—Reuter.

Slight Enemy Air Activity Over Britain

Slight enemy activity over east and south-east England last night, very little damage and very few casualties is the Air Ministry's report this morning.

GERMAN BOMBER SET ON FIRE BY CREW

Five airmen leaped from a German bomber set fire to the machine when it made a forced landing at Santa Marta, then donned civilian clothes and made off to the Spanish frontier, a few miles away.

The place bore traces of machine-gun bullets and the remains of German documents were recovered from the wreckage.—

A German Officer and five members of the Crew of the crashed bomber are detained at Fafara, about 13 miles from Moura, Portugal, where they were forced down.—Reuter.

British Long-range Guns In Action In Greece: Italians Repulsed

LONDON, Feb. 11.

British and Greek planes were active over the Albanian front on Monday, says Reuter's special correspondent on the Jugoslav-Albanian frontier. Large formations of British bombers attacked the road from Elbasan to Valona and Valona itself. Elbasan is the Greek's next main objective in Central Albania.

Italian positions and rear lines, especially communications between Elbasan and the front and between Berat and west of Moscopolis, were also successfully attacked.

The Greeks on the northern sector attacked Italian trenches at many points. Guns of all calibres were engaged in the area north of Pogradets and around the source of the Skumbi River British long-range guns which have newly arrived on this front were put in action. Heavy detonations were heard in the Italian rear.

Four Counter Attacks Repulsed

Four Italian counter-attacks have been repulsed in the last 24 hours. Reports from Athens reaching here state that two of these counter-attacks took place West of the River Drin where an Italian infantry had been ordered to penetrate Greek lines but failed, owing to violent Greek fire, leaving behind dead and wounded. Another of the counter-attacks, was attempted in the region of Klisura.

Another Italian counter-attack against newly won Greek positions in Klisura area has been driven back with heavy losses to the Italians, according to a Greek press Ministry statement broadcast by the Athens radio.

ENEMY ATTACK SMASHED

The statement says, "Like previous attempts this attack was completely smashed and the Italians were beaten back in great disorder."

The statement adds that the situation on the Albanian front continues to be highly satisfactory. Further vantage points have been secured by Greek forces particularly on the central front.

Local operations were crowned with success states Monday night's Greek "communique." Greek aircraft shot down three enemy planes, all Greek planes returning safely.

CATHEDRAL TO BE REPAIRED

The fifth century Salonika Cathedral of Saint Sophia damaged in the air-raid on Sunday is to be repaired immediately following orders by the Premier M. Korizis. One part of the building almost entirely collapsed, but the mosaics of the cupola have not suffered much.

The German Consul was present when crowds massed round the Cathedral after the all-clear and demonstrated against this "act of vandalism."

50-Mile Advance Into Abyssinia

CAIRO, Feb. 11.

South African troops have penetrated fifty miles into Abyssinia. Thus while the battle for Keren in Eritrea is still proceeding, a new threat to Addis Ababa is foreshadowed by the latest information reaching Cairo this afternoon.

This deep penetration into enemy occupied territory has taken place east of Lake Rudolf and the South Africans are pressing on along a rift in the valley running north-eastwards to the Abyssinian Capital and the Red Sea.

A advance in this direction will threaten two important east to west cross-country routes linking southern Abyssinia with Italian Somaliland.

The movement is stated to be developing well.—Reuter.

The Government remark that from such information as they have been able to obtain "the matter is not a consideration of importance. BIHAR TENNIS DISPUTE ENQUIRY

Several Protests To A. I. L. T. A. Over Suspension Of Players

(From Our Correspondent.)

ALLAHABAD, Feb. 11.

Two of the members of the Enquiry Committee appointed by the President of the All-India Lawn Tennis Association, Professor Amar Nath Jha and Mr. L. Brooke-Edwards are here at present, and have met to discuss the matter of the withdrawal from the Bihar Lawn Tennis Championships, at Patna, of Ghaus Mahomed, Yudhister Singh, Z. R. Savur, Iftikhar Ahmed, Sohan Lal and Anwar Hussain. The third member of the Enquiry Committee, Kunwar Jasbir Singh, has not joined his colleagues.

Prior to this Mr. Brooke Edwards visited Patna, to hear the case of the Tournament Committee of the Bihar Tennis Championships.

It is believed that the Lawn Tennis Association, the All-India body, have received a number of protests against the suspension of Ghaus Mahomed and others, who have thus been prevented from participating in a number of important journeys in various parst of India. Their not been able to participate, is certainly going to touch the income of various tennis bodies, who can ill-afford to run big tournaments with front-rank players who are the draw.

The Central India Tennis Tournament Committee has wired to the President of the All-India Lawn Tennis Association, asking that the suspended players be allowed to participate at least in exhibition matches. The President of the A. I. L. T. A. has turned down this request

It is reported, that, though the Committee of Enquiry are still dealing with the conduct of the players, it is very likely they will recommend that, the players be censured for withdrawing from the Bihar Championships, in the manner they did.

An Associated Press message follows our Allahabad Correspondent's communication. This reads:

Mr. L. Brooke Edwards, General Secretary, the All-India Lawn Tennis Association, who is arriving here on Wednesday, will confer with Kunwar Jasbir Singh in connection with the complaint that has been made by the Bihar Lawn Tennis Association against Ghaus Mahomed and four other tennis players.

CORREA'S HAT TRICK

St. Xavier's "B" Hold Bombay Customs In Hockey Championship

Two further matches were played in the Bombay Provincial Hockey Championship on Monday. In the early fixture "The Times of India" were a little too good for the Bombay Port Trust Sports Club, who were beaten by four clear goals. The Pressmen were without a number of their regular players, yet practically had it all their own way.

In the first period E. de Souza, "The Times" fine centre-forward, cleverly outwitted the defence and opened his side's tally. Before the half closed, Correa, the inside left, had carried the side's score to three.

Resuming the Pressmen were still on top despite a gallant effort of the Port Trust to do something. They succeeded to this extent that they kept their opponents out, only allowing one more point. This goal came from Correa, which incidentally meant a hat-trick for him.

The teams were:—

"TIMES OF INDIA": Brown; Lynn and Rex de Souza; Silveira, Fernandez and Menezes; Dias, Warbrick, E. de Souza, Correa and Curry.

BOM. PORT TRUST S. C.: L. R. Telang; G. G. Williams and G. Correy; K. Frances, E. Quinn and P. Dias; Braganza, Dolan, Sweeney, Jeffries and C. Francis.

GALLANT XAVERIANS

Few fans thought that St. Xavier's College "B" would hold the Customs to a pointless draw, despite extra-time. The Collegians, a team of youths, stood up splendidly to a very capable and experienced side. The Xavierians were not defending all the time. They gave as much as they took and with a little bit of luck might have won. Special mention must be made of K. S. Thappa, the College centre-half-back. He was all the man in this position should be. He played himself usefully to a standstill. Orlando de Souza in goal also did much that was good.

The teams were:—

CUSTOMS: Cowton; Aslam and Abreo; Salim, Brewin and S. M. Khan; Husnain Ansari, Afzal, Milne and Zincke.

ST. XAVIER'S COLLEGE "B": Orlando de Souza; F. de Souza and A. Crowe; E. Carlos, K. S. Thappa and G. Fernandes; L. de Souza, E. Nazareth, Oswald Fernandes, Alex D'Lima and E. D'Sa.

TO-DAY'S GAMES:

B.P.H.A. ground: 4 p. m. B.B. and C.I. Railway "A" v. Khatau Sports. 5-15 p.m.: Lusitanians "A" v. B.B. and C.I. Railway "B".

WAR FUND BOXING

Pundole To Meet Flynn

The G L Chard is energetically pushing on with the arrangements to make the War Fund Boxing Tournament a big success. This sports fixture is to be held at the Sir Cowasji Jehangir Hall on Friday, February 21, and under the auspices of the Bombay Presidency Amateur Boxing Federation.

Mr. Chard is doing his utmost to rope in the best amateur pugilists. Fans should go a long way to see those two fine light weights meet, F P. Pundole, of the Zoroastrian Physical Culture and Health League and L.-Cpl. Flynn, of the Welch Regiment. Flynn has proved to be a very fine boxer and is as fit as can be. His defence is really good. With the shake of hands Flynn gets going and keeps at it for better or worse. Flynn won the Lightweight Title at the last Western India Boxing Championships. But, it has to be recalled, that Pundole was unavoidably kept out of this tourney. Pundole was the previous champion of this class. Hence, the meeting of these men, in the ring, some days hence, should be a fight of great interest and definitely will be a splendid bout.

All who saw Apprentice Artificer C. J. Satur scrap at the last Championships know what a tough proposition this R. I. N. boxer is. He gave K C. Sidhwa, the Feather-weight Champion, the toughest fight of his career and lost to this experienced fighter by a very narrow margin of points. In the War Fund Tournament Satur will probably face, Pte Taylor, of the Border Regiment, another feather-weight of note. We, however, feel that, fans would have been delighted to see Satur fight Sidhwa again.

Mr. Chard has got hold of yet another boxer with a reputation, L.-Cpl. Knight, of the Border Regiment. This welter has done a lot of boxing in England and has toured, Denmark, Holland and France in the A. B. A. team.

There are several other good pugilists who will be seen in the Ring on February 21. This date should be a "Red Letter Day" for boxing fans.

Lusitanians' Protest Upheld

At a meeting on Tuesday of the Tournament Committee governing the Bombay Hockey Provincial Championship, the protest lodged by the Lusitanians "A" was considered. The Committee decided that there should be a replay of the Lusitanians "A" and B.B. and C.I. Rly "B" match. This match will be played to-day (Wednesday) at 5-15 p.m. on the B.P.H.A. ground.

It will be recalled that in the Championship tie, where the second string of the B.B. and C.I. were opposed the Lusitanians "A" an incorrect penalty goal was awarded the B.B. and C.I. Rly. by referee Critchell. Further the latter's expressed views on the question of the allowed goal after the game were in contravention of the Laws of the game.

This led the Lusitanians to lodge a protest, which has been upheld.

Approach Was Basically Divergent

talks of November last is not regarded by either side as final but that events will, in the near future, make a fresh approach to a reconciliation of the outstanding differences feasible, and that in such circumstances no difficulty will be felt as to who should take the initiative.

As regards the position in the immediate future, consequent on the disagreement between the two countries, this was raised in the course of the November discussions when Mr. Huxham, one of the Ceylon Ministers, said: "I wonder, Mr. Chairman, whether in spite of our disagreement on the important question of principle, we could reach any understanding as to what practical action should follow or might follow on either side, at least during the period of war. For instance, if it was felt that the position was so unsatisfactory that it was essential to put some impediment in the way of existing trade, which, I imagine, would be followed by similar measures on our side, could we not agree to postpone any such action until at any rate, the war is over?"

Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar: Here is this unfortunate deadlock within the last few hours, and it is not possible for me to indicate what the attitude of the Government of India might be, but I certainly can say this, that the Government of India is not likely to forget the circumstances in which the whole of the British Commonwealth is placed at present, and that any action they take will be taken after due consideration of the war situation."

Sir G. S. Bajpai: I might add after due consideration also of the measures taken by the Ceylon Government and of the extent to which the Government of Ceylon pay due attention to the same circumstances.—A. P.

A few words finally. After the above was written, the papers brought the following news: The Law Member of the Viceroy's Council and Leader of the House in Central Legislative Assembly, Sir M. Zafrulla Khan, speaking at Jamshedpur, on 9-12-1940, said: "We must not only strive for victory on the field of battle . . . we must also strive for "a new heaven and a new earth", where humanity will be able to find freedom, justice, and happiness." On 20-11-1940, Mr. Bhulabhai Desai, (now in prison), Leader of the Congress Party and Leader of the Opposition in the same Central Legislative Assembly, said in the House: "If the issue is . . . a World-Order based on Democracy, then India is intensely interested in it". From the quotations made before, it is abundantly clear that the leaders and rulers of all the nations of east and west, to-day, are uttering the same words, "an ideal Swaraj", "a New World-Order", "a Better World", "a Reconstruction of Human Society", "a New Heaven and a New Earth", but none of them is stating the lines on which he thinks that this Better World can and should be constructed; for the others to consider calmly and rationally.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

Unless 2 pints of bile juice flow from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and our food decays unnaturally in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. Laxatives and mouth washes only help a little. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. They get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely and then you feel on the "up and up." DISABILITIES OF MAN-HOOD

Innumerable advertisements continue to appear for sexual diseases. So much praise is lavished on the medicines advertised, that if all, that is said, were true, all weak men in the world should have been by now completely rejuvenated. What embrocations (Tilas)! Instantaneous effect after application and life long recovery! Tonics and aphrodisiacs such, as would electrify within half an hour and make one a new man within 24 hours. Praises such as these tempt people, who continue to send for medicines and wonder as to why no effect or benefit is to be seen. On the contrary they are sometimes harmed. There are a useful medicines too, but not so efficacious as claimed. Unusual praises concerning very ordinary medicines sometimes astonish us. Some persons are advertising one "Kushta Faulad" and in its praise there is a mention of our Proprietor, Pt. Thakur Datta Sharma Vaidya to the effect that Panditji had some years back made an announcement that a reward of Rs. 1,000 would be paid to any person who produces a prescription better than that of Kushta Faulad, but so far nobody has been able to win that reward. The particular prescription is, no doubt, a good one, but the story is wrong. Here in our Pharmacy it is sold under the name of "Kushta Faulad" '1st quality' at Rs. 5 per tola. But in addition we have superior Kushtas of Faulad, viz., special quality, Rs. 20 and again Rs. 100 and also Rs. 1,000 per tola. To speak of other medicines of our pharmacy, we have over a hundred and twenty five such tonics and embrocations (Tilas) always ready in stock, for different constitutions, different ailments and of different prices. We do not, however, like to talk of them in such high terms, as some others would of a Kushta worth Rs. 5 per tola. It is in winter season that tonics are generally used. We, therefore, give below a few tonics and hereby inform those, who are in need of them, not to knock hither and thither, but select a medicine suited to them from among these and use it. They are prepared under the supervision of a physician, specialising in the treatment of sex-disorders, Pandit Thakur Datta Sharma Vaidya of Amritdhara fame. Detailed catalogue of medicines and a special book "Perfect Man" can be had free for the asking.

'MISUSE OF DEFENCE OF INDIA RULES'

GOVT. CHARGED WITH "PERSECUTION OF LEGITIMATE VIEWS"

Adjournment Motion Ruled Out In Central Assembly

NEW DELHI, Feb. 11.

Eight adjournment motions were either ruled out or fell through for want of support in the Assembly to-day.

Mr. Esaak Sait sought admission for a motion relating to an Order issued by the Census Officer in Monghyr prohibiting the filling of census forms in Urdu and insisting on filling them in Hindi.

URDU V. HINDI

Sir Reginald Maxwell, Home Member, objecting pointed out that the incident referred to was not one of recent occurrence; it began in September and ended in November. The Census Commissioner visited the centre and subsequently cancelled all the orders. The grievance, therefore, no longer existed. He had it in writing from the Census Commissioner that enumerators were now permitted to fill the forms in Urdu if they wished to, although it would cause some difficulty.

Mr. Sait admitted that if that was so, he was to that extent, satisfied but the forms themselves were in Hindi or English and the complaint was that enumerators who knew Urdu only could not read them.

Sir Reginald Maxwell suggested that every enumerator now knew the forms by heart.

The President asked members who were in support of the motion to stand, and as the requisite number did not get up leave was refused.

ECHO OF GURU GOBIND SINGH DAY

Sardar Sant Singh attempted an adjournment motion to discuss the action of the Telegraph Authorities in Sargodha, Punjab, in refusing to send telegrams complaining against the conduct of local authorities regarding Guru Gobind Singh Day procession. He explained that the telegram was not alarming or objectionable and that the Telegraph authorities had acted under the orders of the Deputy Commissioner, whose action the telegram criticised.

Sir Andrew Clow, Communications Member, quoted the Telegraph Rule under which in cases of doubt, the Telegraph authority in District Centres was to refer telegrams to the Chief Civil Authority in the Centre and act in accordance with advice given.

The Telegraph Authorities in Sargodha had acted under this rule, and, Sir Andrew said, according to the Chair's ruling, an order passed in the ordinary Administration of Law could not be subject of an adjournment motion.

The President held the motion out of order

Alleged Misuse Of Power Under Defence Rules

Mr. Kazmi had tabled an adjournment motion to discuss "the misuse of power under the Defence of India Rules for persecuting people for mere expression of legitimate views on war."

The President observed that the terms of the motion seemed very wide and indefinite. He believed that under the Defence of India Act, Magistrates in each Province were empowered to act under the rules of the act. The mover had to satisfy the House that the Government of India ordered the persecution of these people for expression of certain opinions.

Mr. Kazmi said that in actual practice, it was the Government of India who were persecuting. He added that the Government of India were in any case persecuting in Delhi, for instance.

VAGUE AND GENERAL

The Chair pointed out that the motion did not refer to Delhi and as he had said, it was vague and general. It was therefore out of order.

Sir Ziauddin had several adjournment motions in his name, one of which sought to raise a discussion on "the failure of the Government of India to give dearness allowance to all their employees and restricting it to certain railway employees."

The Chair:—When was the allowance granted?

Sir Zafrullah Khan pointed out that no dearness allowance had been given.

Sir Ziauddin:—It will be given during this session (laughter).

The motion was held out of order.

Late Pandit K. Malaviya & Sharma

After questions, references were made by Sir Zafrullah Khan, Leader of the House, Mr. G. B. Nairang, the Deputy Leader of the Moslem League party in the absence of the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. M. S. Aney, the Leader of the Congress Nationalist Party and the Chair to the death of Pandit K. K. Malaviya and Pandit Pyarelal Sharma.

The speakers dwelt on the varied attainments of Pandit K K. Malaviya, pointing out that in addition to his duties as a member of the House, he was a Hindi scholar and writer of repute, a man of vigorous and independent views and latterly took a great deal of interest in the promotion of gliding in India. Tributes were paid to Pandit Sharma as an active Congressman and Minister in U. P.

Assembly Questions

Dismantled Indian Railway Lines For Use In War

Br. Exchequer Will Accept Debit Equivalent To Full Value Of Material Supplied, Says Clow

NEW DELHI, Feb. 11.

At question time in the Assembly to-day, Sir Andrew Clow, Member, Communications, informed Mr. Lalchand Navalrai that certain alterations were being made to engines in the railway workshops.

Mr. Aney asked whether none of these engines was allowed to run without these alterations.

Sir Andrew Clow replied that the alterations were designed to secure running at high speeds. These engines were entirely safe without the alterations, at the speed to which they were at present restricted.

Sir Andrew Clow said in reply to Sir Ziauddin that Government had decided to modify the existing organisation for the inspection of Railways. Particulars of the revised cadre would be published in due course.

Sir Andrew Clow informed Mr Govind V. Deshmukh that the claim of Nagpur to have a broadcasting Station would be considered in connection with the next programme of development to be undertaken when funds become available.

SIX BRANCH LINES CLOSED

Sir Andrew Clow replying to Mr. A. N. Chattopadhyaya's question said that six branch lines had been closed and the material was being moved towards its final destination. These lines were regarded as unremunerative. They were all State-owned and therefore the question of giving compensation to any Railway Company did not arise.

Mr. Chattopadhyaya: "If these railway lines were removed for use in the war going on outside India, will the compensation or price of these lines be paid by the British Exchequer or by the Government of India?

Sir Andrew Clow: "The British Exchequer will accept a debit equivalent to the full value of all materials supplied to them from these dismantled lines."—A. P.

Troops In Idgah?

Mr. Ogilvie, Defence Secretary, made a statement with reference to an adjournment motion of November 19 last year in which Maulana Zafarali stated that certain troops had forcibly occupied an Idgah at Burhanpur, Central Provinces. On receipt of the motion, said Mr. Ogilvie, he made enquiries and received the reply that the tents pitched by the troops had not impinged upon the Idgah. Since then an inquiry had been conducted by the Central Provinces Government and he had found that the explanation he gave to the House was not strictly correct. The camping ground was in front of the Idgah and there was nothing to show where the Idgah ended and the camping ground began, except slightly raised ground which on further investigation had been found to be part of the Idgah proper. That fact was not known at the time to the officer in charge of the troops. It became known after the troops had left. The Brigadier and the Deputy Commissioner thereupon expressed regret to the Idgah authorities.

Ceylon Delegation Report

Mr. J. D. Tyson, Education Secretary, laid on the table copies of the report of the Ceylon Delegation to the Ceylon State Council on the informal Indo-Ceylon conversations, the 'verbatim' record of the conversations and the Government of India Press 'communique' on the subject.

Mr. F. E. James said that of the three documents some members of the House had not received copies of the Government of India 'communique' and suggested that in view of the extreme importance of the subject matter of this 'communique' it would have been more fitting if the Government had made a statement in the House instead of issuing a 'communique' which most members could only read to-morrow in the papers.

After some discussion, Mr. Tyson read out the Government 'communique', and it was later announced by the Leader of the House that on Friday February 14 after completion of the business set down for the day, the House would be invited to take the documents into consideration.

Approach Was Basically Divergent

Why Indo-Ceylonese Exploratory Conference Failed

Ceylon Aimed At Reducing Number Of Indian Immigrants: Indians Wanted Better Conditions

NEW DELHI, Feb. 11.

Fundamental differences on the question of the status of Indians resident in Ceylon led to the failure of the Indo-Ceylon Exploratory Conference of November last, explains a Government of India communique published to-day together with the Ceylon delegation's report and verbatim reproduction of the discussions at the conference.

The Ceylon delegates, says the communique, approached the problem from the point of view of reducing the Indian population in Ceylon and framed their proposals on that basis. The Indian delegation took the view that, on the question of status, the claim of Indians to equality of citizenship should be based upon the same principle, the application of which they had consistently urged in respect of other countries in the British Commonwealth of Nations where Indians have settled, namely, that full citizenship rights covering the whole political and economic field, could legitimately be claimed by all-Indians who could establish proof of a prescribed period of residence and of a permanent interest in that country.

As regards Ceylon, they suggested, (A) five years' residence, (B) a permanent interest in Ceylon, both tests to be satisfied by some set of easily ascertainable facts. The Indian delegation recognised, however, that certain specific reservations might have to be made in the special circumstances of Ceylon and were prepared to consider provisions regarding the right to enter Government service and the right to acquire land already mapped out under the crown lands development ordinance.

Subject to acceptance of the fundamental principle that full rights of citizenship over the whole political and economic field on a footing of equality with Ceylonese should be conceded to Indians resident in Ceylon on an agreed date, on their furnishing proof of residence for a prescribed period and of permanent interest, the Indian delegation were prepared to consider any modifications in detail of their proposals that the Delegation from Ceylon might put forward.

Principle Unacceptable

The Ceylon Delegation, however, found themselves unable to accept the principle underlying the proposals of the Indian Delegation. From an early stage the discussions had revealed that the Ceylon delegation laid great emphasis upon the necessity, however unpleasant, of restricting the employment of Indians in all spheres, including estates.

For example, on the second day of the Conference even in regard to persons possessing a domicile of choice, the leader of the Ceylon Delegation admitted that these might be subjected not only to restrictions that now operate in favour of Ceylonese but also to fresh restrictions in the future. The discussions that followed the presentation of the Indian proposals merely served to bring out the unwillingness of the Ceylon Delegates to make any commitment, beyond an expression of their willingness to consult the Government of India, that would hamper their freedom to impose restrictions on Indian employment in favour of the Ceylonese.

It became clear that not only persons who would be eligible for the Ceylon domicile of choice under the proposals made by the Ceylon Delegates but even their children might in fact have little opportunity of obtaining a domicile of origin as their parents might have to leave Ceylon under economic pressure and restrictions and thereby lose their domicile of choice.

It was argued by the Ceylon Delegates that India had already accepted something similar in South Africa in the schemes for repatriation formulated at the Cape Town Conference in 1927. The Indian Delegation, however, pointed out, firstly, that that scheme was entirely voluntary in character and, secondly, that it arose from the fact that there were in South Africa a number of Indians who had no wish to accommodate themselves to western standards of life. There was therefore no analogy in either respect between that scheme and the present proposals of the Ceylon Delegation.

A Divergent Views

"It was with profound regret", says the communique "that the Indian delegates were forced to the conclusion that the angles from which the two delegations approached the vital question of the status of the resident Indian population in Ceylon were so divergent as to offer no basis for continuing the exploratory talks. While fully appreciating the desire of the Ceylon delegation to secure the maximum opportunity for employment for their own people in Ceylon, the Indian Delegation were unable to agree to any method of achieving that purpose which would involve discrimination against or pressure upon, Indians resident in Ceylon, who in their opinion could legitimately claim full equality of citizenship.

The conversations were therefore discontinued. The desire of the Government of India that relations between the two countries should be placed on a firm basis of friendship and co-operation has in no way diminished and should a prospect of a resumption of negotiations with greater possibilities of success appear in the future they will be found ready to take advantage of it."

The Ceylon Delegation's report explaining their case says it was observed at the conference that Ceylon has already reached the point where she cannot support a reasonable standard of living for her people, her population is rapidly increasing with all the attendant economic problems and difficulties.

Placed in these circumstances, Ceylon has no alternative but to restrict the number of non-Ceylonese to whom full rights of citizenship can be extended. The report quotes the reply given by the Indian Delegation and says the reply means that the Indian Delegation after considering the special circumstances of Ceylon as explained by the Ceylon Delegation were not prepared to agree in the light of these special circumstances to any modification of the claim made by India on behalf of Indian nationals in other countries. Their attitude was further clarified by a statement at a later stage to the effect that every Indian now in Ceylon must be allowed to settle in Ceylon permanently if he so wishes.

Million Indians

The Indian proposals, proceeds the report, not only widen the category of those who are entitled to full citizenship, but also grant the opportunity to acquire a domicile of choice to Indians now resident in Ceylon who have not completed five years residence. In effect, therefore, Ceylon is to resign herself to the absorption of about a million Indians. With their descendants of course that number will be greatly increased in the future.

It became clear, says the report, that the grant of full rights to Indians possessing merely domicile of choice, which was demanded by the Indian Delegation, could not be accepted by the Ceylon Delegation. Resident Indians falling within this category could it was pointed out, obtain the franchise, and if they could, by their own endeavours, establish themselves in the country, their children born in Ceylon would automatically enjoy full rights of citizenship. The concession, therefore, of full citizenship to the children of Indians possessing a domicile of choice was a substantial one.

It was urged that Ceylon must be free to take such steps as are necessary, even to the disadvantage of resident Indians, to create wider opportunities for Ceylonese. For this purpose, the Ceylon Government would be prepared to negotiate with India regarding a repatriation scheme whereby Indians might voluntarily return to India with a suitable monetary grant. Ceylon, finally, would not be prepared to extend the franchise to those resident Indians who did not exercise their right of choice of Ceylon domicile by a fixed date. The Indian Delegation was earnestly requested to suggest a solution acceptable to them and at the same time calculated to meet the difficulties pointed out by the Ceylon Delegation.—A. P.
